

ENDS ATTEMPT TO INVOLVE RAILWAY

Judge Waddill Signs Order Which Ends Big Suit Against Street Car Company.

Judge Edmund Waddill, Jr., of the United States Circuit Court for the Eastern District of Virginia, yesterday dismissed a suit of the Maryland Trust Company vs. the Newport News and Old Point Electric Railway Company. The object of the suit, although the purpose was not directly stated, was to throw this railway company into the hands of receivers. Judge Waddill stated last night that an injunction had been issued in the case, but this, as well as other proceedings, was dismissed, when the case was settled out of court.

The order of dismissal was mailed to Norfolk last night, and will become a record of the United States court today. The amount involved is more than $200,000, and the release will probably serve as an inducement to the owners to make improvements. The railway company is represented in the litigation by Samuel Regester and Judge A. L. Holladay, of this city, and Attorneys Wilcox, of Norfolk, and Lewis, of Baltimore, have the case in hand for the Maryland Trust Company.

In Norfolk and vicinity, the court's decision has been looked upon with interest, as the suit has been pending for several years. What the agreement reached in the compromise might have been is not stated, but it is alleged that William J. Payne, a Richmond, will be appointed a director, as well as an officer of the corporation. It is understood that other incorporations were involved in the affairs of the Newport News and Old Point Electric Railway Company when the receivership was sought.

ANOTHER BLOW AT PRIMARY SYSTEM

Local Committees Are Alleged to Have Fixed Assessments Two Low.

Although candidates for State offices to be voted for in the primary on August 5 cheerfully forwarded to Chairman Ellyson the additional amounts asked for by him to defray the expenses of the election, some of them do not hesitate to say that they know the cause of the deficit, which made it necessary to raise their assessments 20 per cent.

"Many of the local committees fixed the assessments upon their candidates for the House of Delegates at ridiculously low figures," said one of them last night, after he had complied with the request of the State chairman. "I know of one county," he continued, "where two candidates are running for the House, and where the local committee assessed them only $12 each. This is one of the large counties of the State. The cost of conducting the primary will, therefore, be heavy. If these men had been assessed on the same basis in proportion to the amounts levied upon the State candidates, they would have paid $55 instead of $12 each. There are many other such instances in various sections. The whole story is that it is fair assessments had been laid upon all the local candidates, there would have been no additional call upon those aspiring to State positions. I do not think this manifest inequality should exist. It is unjust, as is going a long way toward breaking down the primary system in Virginia, which, as at present operated, is already very unpopular."

PLAN TO DELIVER MAIL IN SUBURBS

Two Men Named to Inspect Outlying Districts and Fix New Routes.

Inspectors of the Washington district, which includes Richmond, met yesterday to discuss a reorganization of the postal routes in the suburbs. This was necessary, as many of the city carriers went to a certain point, and the territory of the rural carriers did not extend in far enough to complete the distance. The result has been that many complaints have been made about the service.

"Richmond is large enough to employ enough men to give perfect service," said Inspector Calvert, who acted as chairman of the meeting, "and our idea is to arrange matters so that there will be no complaints. Many of the outlying districts have been built up to such an extent that whereas one man could formerly handle the route, it is now necessary to employ two."

Inspectors J. C. Koons and F. B. Boush were named to rearrange the routes, and their report will be made within the next few weeks. Neither of the men is familiar with the territory and therefore it will be necessary to go over the ground before the decisions reached in the meeting will be that suburbs will be given the best possible service, and people outside the city limits will also be enabled to receive their mail on schedule time.

Special Term for Murder Trial.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
BOWLING GREEN, VA., July 21.—A special term of the Circuit Court of Caroline county will be held Thursday for the trial of S. J. Bullock for the killing of Edmund M. J. Bullock, which took place about three months ago. Judging by the number of witnesses that have been summoned, it is probable the case will not be concluded this week.

MOURNED AS DEAD, YOUTH STILL LIVES

His Mangled Body Thought to Have Been Found on Railway Track.

REMARKABLE COINCIDENCE

Identification Complete Even to Mole on Chin and Letter from Sweetheart.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
BRISTOL, VA., July 21.—William Homer Bowers, nineteen years old, a son of T. L. Bowers, of Bristol, after being mourned dead for a week, has been located. By a singular coincidence his parents received news that he had been killed by a train at Stanton, Tex. The body of a youth was found on the railway there, which corresponded to the description of Bowers, even to a mole on the chin. To emphasize the impression that it was the body of Bowers, the name of Miss Inez Gibbs, of Fort Worth, a girl to whom Bowers had been paying attention, was found in the dead boy's pocket. When this paper was sent to Miss Gibbs, she was positive Bowers had been killed.

The suspense of Bowers' parents was relieved to-day by the receipt of a letter from their missing boy, mailed in Fort Worth two days after the mangled body had been found at Stanton. Bowers had been away from Fort Worth for a month, during which time his parents had not heard from him. The letter to-day states that he had been in Colorado. A message from Stanton states that the mangled body there was buried with the belief that it was that of Bowers.

Colonel John M. Galloway.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., July 21.—Colonel John M. Galloway, of Madison, the largest landowner in Rockingham county, as well as one of the largest tobacco growers in the Piedmont section of North Carolina, died at his summer cottage at Piedmont Springs, between the hours of 1 and 2 o'clock this morning. He passed away in the seventy-fourth year of his age, and is survived by a widow and one son, John M. Galloway, a lawyer and ex-Mayor of Madison.

MASTER MECHANIC INJURED BY FALL FROM CARS

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
SPENCER, N. C., July 21.—Master Mechanic W. F. Kaderly, of the Southern Railway shops, at Spencer, returned from Greensboro last night with a broken arm, having fallen between two cars while on the yards at that place. He was riding on a car which was broken apart and he fell between the bumpers, one wrist being broken in the fall.

POLICE BARBECUE BREAKS RECORD

Thousands of Citizens Attend and Stew Tables Are Thronged All Day.

With a fair day, a large crowd and thousands of Richmond citizens, the annual police barbecue went off yesterday with the greatest eclat, the only mishap occurring to Bicycle Policeman Andrews, who had his lip cut with a bat in a baseball game. Dr. C. W. P. Brock, the police surgeon, was on the grounds at the time, and the officer was attended by him and then taken home, where his lip was sewed up.

But there were no other mishaps of consequence, and the day was thoroughly enjoyed by officers and citizens alike. Major Werner was on hand early in the morning, and he returned again in the evening to see that all orders were carried out and that the picnic was, as it should be, quiet, open and above board.

Jack Sales, principal chef, had been on hand since the night before, and when the crowd began arriving at 8 o'clock in the morning he had some of his famous stew ready for them. Besides 300 gallons of the stew, besides hundreds of sandwiches, many different kinds of salads and other delectables, all of which were eaten and enjoyed. The stew tables were thronged all day long, but it was not until the end of the day that the 300-gallon pot began to diminish. But by that time everybody had been fed, for the leaves and fishes had more than gone around.

Practically every policeman on the force attended, and besides them there were numerous prominent citizens, who came out to eat a little stew and to give the Police Department the benefit of their attendance and their cash subscription.

L. Z. Morris, chairman of the Police Benevolent Association, characterized the picnic as the best the department has ever had. "It is all open and above board," he said, "and you can see that the members of the department and the citizens are enjoying themselves. As to the proceeds, I think, after the expenses are paid, that there will be a handsome figure for us." Mr. Morris, with several of the commissioners and Chairman Sergeant Sherry, seemed to be very well pleased with the result of the day, and they believe that the next picnic will be more popular than this.

There were several motorcycle races, horse races and a baseball game, which greatly added to the interest and enthusiasm of the day. The only accident was to one of the motorcyclists, who came out to eat a little stew and to give the Police Department the benefit of their attendance and their cash subscription.

SPECIAL MASTER ILL. HEARING IS POSTPONED
C. G. Williams is Suing City of Lynchburg for Balance Due for Construction of Dam and Conduit.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
LYNCHBURG, VA., July 21.—The hearing in the case of C. G. Williams against the city of Lynchburg for $250,000, the balance claimed by the plaintiff for the construction of the gravity water dam and conduit, which was to go over the ground, was postponed by the court. The case was argued by Professor Martin P. Burks, of the Washington and Lee University, who has been named a special master in the case, was adjourned until tomorrow on account of the illness of the special master. It is believed that Professor Burks will be able to come here for this reference work tomorrow.

ROBBED THEIR BENEFACTRESS OF PISTOL AND 2,000 COUPONS

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NORFOLK, VA., July 21.—Two young white men, Leon Westcott and Willie Smith, were ordered held by Justice Simmons, in the Police Court to-day, on the charge of housebreaking and larceny. The extent of their stealing from a woman, Annie Thompson, was a Smith & Wesson pistol and 2,000 cigarette coupons. The evidence showed that the woman had befriended one of the men, when he was penniless, and that he and his companion thus repaid her. They tried to pawn the pistol, and this led to their arrest.
